MINISTERS' MEETING Of the Kentucky Baptist

This City, on Thursday and Friday.

Many the Interesting Features

FIRST DAY.

Ministers' Meeting of Kentucky Baptists convened here yesterday morning. The first day's session was the largest delegation in the history of that organization; ninety ministers were present. The crowd will be here to-day.

Rev. J. S. Coleman, of Greenville, was chosen Moderator, and Rev. L. P. Trotter, of Bardonia, Secretary. Subjects for discussion were handled ably and with much enthusiasm. Rev. J. S. Cheek's address brought many divines to their feet. They talked of angels, ministering angels, the Holy Spirit, etc. It was an occasion which caused men to think.

Chairman Coleman called the attention of the body to the growing influence of Mormons, who taught the ignorant to believe in them as inspired men, and the discussion turned in that direction. Ministers of this church will expose Mormon fallacies wherever they find them.

In speaking of guardian angels, one speaker estimated twenty-five to four converted men. Moody's estimate is 150.

COMMITTEES.

On Obituaries—J. M. Wise, I. W. Bruner, B. F. Swindler, C. H. Nash. On Program—J. A. Booth, J. S. Cheek, W. J. Bolin, J. S. Norris, B. Neal.

Committee to discover oldest and youngest member present and report to this body, who will relate their christian experience—B. B. Bailey, W. K. Penrod.

Committee on Resolutions—J. G. Bow, S. H. Burgess, G. L. Morrill, J. T. Christian, J. B. Cronch.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Meeting called to order by Moderator Coleman, and led in prayer by Rev. J. M. Weaver.

Names of the new arrivals read out and then the convention proceeded with the programme of the day.

The speakers on the first topic being absent, the discussion of the "Relation of Orthodoxy to Efficiency" was called up. Rev. F. D. Hale made a logical talk upon this subject, after which it was submitted to general discussion.

Revs. Templeman, Irvine, Bruner, Baker, Barrow, Granville, Dockery, Nash, Felix and others made impressive talks upon the "Efficiency of the Minister," after which a motion to pass the question was adopted. Rev. F. D. Hale made the closing argument and the convention proceeded to other matters.

On account of the absence of ministers appointed on topics for discussion this afternoon, the programme was exhausted and a motion was made to discuss the first topic set for Friday morning. This motion, however, was withdrawn and the floor given to Rev. P. H. Kennedy, the representative of the "Sole Baptist of Kentucky." Rev. Kennedy made an amusing, yet impressive talk upon the church affairs of his race.

A motion was then carried to hear Rev. Thos. McCell, who read an admirable treatise on "The Devotional Life of a Minister." Revs. Taylor, Prestidge, Thompson, See and Weaver made talks on this topic, illustrating with personal experiences. The discussion was then passed and motion for adjournment carried.

Rev. B. B. Bailey, of Winchester, preached at the church last night, subject, "Efficiency First." It was a fine sermon and much enjoyed by his auditors.

SECOND DAY.

There were about two hundred delegates present at the Ministers' Meeting of Kentucky Baptists yesterday. The first thing on the program, "State Mission Work; is it Neglected in Kentucky?" occupied the attention of the body during most of the morning session.

Rev. B. F. Swindler, of Covington, and Rev. W. K. Penrod, of Paducah, were the appointed speakers on the subject.

Rev. Swindler's talk was mostly statistical by quotations from past periods of the work he showed a most deplorable decline of Missions in Kentucky. He drew comparisons of Missionary work in Kentucky to that in other States, showing that in proportion to the number of Baptists our work is inefficient.

Rev. Penrod's speech was devoted entirely to the way the work has been conducted in the old Commonwealth and suggested that other plans be adopted to carry forward the vision of the Association.

The report of Missionary contributions for 1898 as compared with that of 1884, showed no increase although the membership of the church has increased about 30 per cent. The subject was thrown open to general discussion and enthusiastic speeches were made by Rev. A. M. Stout, C. M. Thompson, J. M. Hunt, W. H. Felix, J. A. Lee, A. M. Thompson, I. P. Trotter, J. M. Weaver and others.

Rev. W. D. Nowlin, of Nicholasville, read a paper on "The Five Books that Helped Me Most," after which there was a general discussion of Eccelesiastical Literature, prominent among the speakers being Revs. J. T. Christian, W. P. Harvey, J. L. Wills, C. M. Thompson, B. B. Bailey, J. C. Freeman, J. Barrow, I. M. Wise and J. B. Tharp.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

House called to order by Moderator Coleman; led in prayer by Rev. J. A. Booth.

The first subject on the programme was the discussion of the "Denominational Control of Colleges," by H. E. Eaton and F. E. Eberhardt.

The discussion of books passed and the order of the day taken up. The speakers on the above subject being absent, it was postponed to be called up at the will of the Moderator.

The next subject, "The Great Needs of the Ministry Today," was postponed until the presence of the speaker.

The first topic taken up was "Eccelesiastical Literature," by J. C. Bow, of Paducah, and B. H. Dement, of Louisville. Rev. Bow read a learned treatise on these verses. Rev. Dement followed him, reading an excellent treatise on the same subject. Both papers gave evidence of thorough preparation and depth of thought.

After this paper a song was sung, then the subject handed over to the assembly for general discussion. The members were as follows: Revs. J. M. Weaver, B. B. Bailey, Campbell, F. E. Eberhardt, J. T. Barrow, H. O. Risher.

Motion here made and carried to pass the subject.

Those appointed on the first topic of the afternoon having come in, the discussion of "The Needs of the Ministry Today" was taken up. Rev. T. Strother, of Cadiz, and Rev. J. W. Porter, of Mayville, were the appointed speakers. Speakers during the open discussion of the subject were W. D. Nowlin, B. B. Bailey, G. C. Cates, C. E. Perryman, W. H. Fox, J. S. Wills, J. M. Frost and F. D. Hale.

Rev. B. J. Davis, of Clay Village, read a paper on "The Relation of Society to Churches."

Dr. J. N. Prestidge, editor of the Baptist Argus, Louisville, read one of his characteristic treatises on the same subject.

This topic was passed without general discussion and opportunity given for the committees to report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

Rev. Wise, chairman of the Committee on Obituaries, made a partial report, after which a motion was carried to vest all powers in the committee appointed at the last meeting, the committee being H. C. Roberts, I. M. Wise, J. H. Anderson.

Motion made that the Committee on Obituaries be instructed to consult the General Assembly with reference to a memorial service during the assemblies of that body. Motion carried and meeting adjourned until 8 o'clock, when Rev. J. N. Anderson preached an excellent sermon.

"SOUL EMANCIPATION."

Graduation Address of Mr. W. M. Nevins Delivered at Georgetown College Commencement Day.

Bondage in all its forms is a thing despicable to the human race. Jean Valjean in chains at once excites our pity; and when you pass from an individual to a nation the offense is magnified, and men resort to arms, and nations bleed and freedom shrinks from the fastnesses of the mountains.

But I would have you take a greater step: from physical to spiritual bondage, from the real of death matter to the airy soul region, the very essence of which is freedom and liberty.

A delicate thing is the human soul. Shut up within its earthly prison-house, there come to it whiplashes of the Eternal Mind. The soul itself is eternal. O, the delectable vision! Look upon the ray of sunlight as it comes glinting its way along through the trackless wastes of ether, breaking in ten thousand reflections on the surface of the lake; and know that when the source of that light has failed, and its fires have burned themselves out—

"The soul shall flourish in immortal youth, Unhurt amidst the world of elements, The world of matter and the crash of worlds."

What, then, must be the bondage of a human soul? We can only paint it in weak water colors by comparing it to physical or mental bondage. That ethereal nature that was made to soar beyond the stars, and listen enraptured to the music of the spheres, when the whiplashes come to it that spiritland it would break from its prison, rend the bars asunder and, rejoicing in its freedom, soar away into God's eternal blue.

Death is the greatest benefactor of the human race, because it promises the emancipation of the human soul.

"If ever the silver cloud be loosed, or the golden bow be broken, or the pitcher broken at the fountain or the wheel broken at the cistern, then shall the dust return into earth as it was and the spirit unto God who gave it." But it is erroneous to believe that we must wait until death to secure soul emancipation. It can, in a large measure, be secured in this life, and he who fails to recognize this truth is struggling in the depths when he might be on the heights. And how can this be done? By crucifying the sensual material tendencies of our nature and cultivating the soul's yearnings, longings and aspirations. There are no two men that have the same soul level. Some men have no spiritual sight or insight whatever. Other men can almost see the radiance that gleams from the city of the Great King. Some men are content to dwell in the mists and fogs of the valleys inhaling their poisonous odors; others live upon the hilltops and bask in the sunshine of an eternal revelation.

The beauty of the world about us and the enjoyment of it, is in direct proportion to our soul level, our soul emancipation.

And now, lastly, I would have you notice that soul emancipation costs a struggle. All emancipation does. There never was a flower sprung from the soil but it imbibed its nourishment from the decay of others; there never was a battle fought and won and a nation freed to freedom but in its track was blood and tears and broken hearts; there never was a soul loosed from bondage but obtained it through struggle, strife, and the crucifixion of the baser nature. Every deed done for the satisfaction of a base appetite, desire or ambition is another bond, another fetter to the soul, another plunge in the valleys of mist and darkness. On the other hand, every victory is an ascension, and all at last we shall attain unto absolute emancipation, when our souls shall be free to roam at will the boundless regions of space. Here our vision is limited. What shall hinder our there to pierce all hidden mysteries and view the whole universe of God rolling in celestial splendor? Here we have five senses by which we come into contact with the world about us. What shall hinder us over there from having ten thousand? Here our ears can only detect a few notes of music, and above and below that all is silence. What shall hinder us there from hearing the whole gamut of vibrations from the top to the bottom as it pours from out all space, limitless, infinite. O, the delights of absolute soul emancipation!

Goethe tells us in his vision of an angel that came and led him to explore the regions of space. On they sped, out into the silent night, where the glimmering stars shone in their mild radiance—on and on. Now they passed the light reflected by some planet; now they were in the abysses of darkness. Now they swept across the pathway of some fiery sun, and now it was but a mere speck behind them. And on they sped, and on and on, and Goethe turned to the angel and said: "Is it not enough?"

And the angel said: "Come with me, the end is not yet." And millions upon millions of trackless miles did they leave behind them, and years passed as the passing of a day, and they winged their onward course. Beyond the golden sunset they journeyed, and beyond the pale moon, and Goethe turned to the angel and said: "It is enough, it is enough! Let me have rest burst within me; let not my heart burst for there is no end." "There is no end," said the angel, and the city was taken up and wafted on and on where the surges break on the rock-bound coast of eternity—no end, no end. Such is the consummation of absolute emancipation.

"The world recedes; it disappears! Heaven opens on my eyes! My ears with sounds seraphic ring. Lend, lend your wings! I mount! O grace, where is thy victory? I fly! O death, where is thy sting?"

MOTHER OF TRUSTS.

Ten Per Cent. Protection Sufficient.

Mr. Henry O. Havemeyer, President of the American Sugar Refining Company, was examined by the Industrial Commission in connection with its investigation of trusts. His testimony related almost wholly to the sugar industry. He said:

"The mother of all trusts is the Customs Tariff Bill. The existing bill and the preceding one have been the occasion of the formation of all the large trusts, with very few exceptions, inasmuch as they provide for an inordinate protection to all the interests of the country—sugar refining excepted. "There probably is not an industry that requires a protection of more than ten per cent. ad valorem and it is to obtain what is provided over such percentage in the tariff that leads to the formation of what are commonly spoken of as 'trusts.'"

The Baptist Book Concern of Louisville, W. P. Harvey, President, represented by J. Henry Burnett, has on exhibition at the Baptist church a nice display of books, tracts and Bibles. If you want a good church Roll and Record for your church they have the best one on the market for $1.50. They can furnish you a splendid Teacher's Bible for $1.00. Any pastor who wants a good companion for funerals, etc., can get one for 25c. You will also find their latest book, "Baptist History Unabridged," by Rev. John T. Christian, Sermons, Sermon Outlines, Faith of Baptists, Bible Text Books, Baptist Principles, In His Steps, Dying Testimonies of the Saved and Unsaved, The Little Baptist, In Christ, Torrey's Vest Pocket Companion, Pendleton's Three Reasons, Church Manual, Moody's Anecdotes, Pastor's Pocket Record, Matthew Henry's Commentary, and many others. Call and see the books they have and get a memorandum book free.

More Recruits Wanted For the Philippines.

The recruiting officer in Lexington has just received instructions from the War Department to enlist a limited number of white men for infantry, cavalry and artillery service in the Philippines. These men will be sent to San Francisco immediately to connect with steamship sailing for the Philippines the latter part of a month. This opportunity will only last for a few days, and men desiring this chance to make a trip around the world should apply at once to the recruiting officer in Lexington, Ky., or in Somerset, Ky., or in Ashland, Ky.

MARRIAGES.

BRADLEY-DAVIS.

The event of the season was consummated in the marriage of Miss Ida Bradley and Mr. Paxton Davis at the Baptist Church in Morehead June 18th, 1899. At just 8:30 p. m., the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March were skillfully rendered by Miss Leha Carey, a pretty blonde, beautifully attired in white Paris muslin and diamonds. The graceful and well dressed ushers Mr. Morgan Bradley and Mr. Joe. Head, uncle of the groom preceding the bride and groom came slowly down the aisle keeping perfect time to the wedding march. Just behind them came the bride on the arm of the groom, looking every inch a queen of beauty. She was beautifully dressed in white organdie and pearls, carried a bouquet of bride roses which gracefully went in concert with the light footsteps of the bride who bore it. The groom, looking as handsome as an Apollo, wore an elegant suit of black. After an impressive ceremony by Dr. L. V. P. Williams, pastor of the church at that place, they passed out, two happy hearts beating as one. The wedding party and a few friends were invited to the very hospitable home of Mr. J. S. Head, banker of Morehead, to spend a short while in congratulations. Those in attendance from a distance were: Mr. Ben Head and wife and Mr. Head, of Staunton, Ky., both relatives of the groom and Mrs. Z. T. Young, of Mt. Sterling, and others whose names we can not remember.

STOLEN ART TREASURES.

Napoleon Not the Only Vandal in Galleries.

Napoleon was not the only vandal who has endeavored to carry off fine masterpieces of art. Many of the world's celebrated paintings could relate queer stories of their loss and finding. Gainsborough's beautiful "Duchess of Devonshire" was stolen in 1876 from Agnew's picture gallery in Bond Street, London, and every effort to trace its destiny proved fruitless. Finally, after a disappearance of over 20 years, the beautiful duchess in the Gainsborough had emerged from the grime and seclusion of a cellar. A vestry official was obliged in the routine of his office to visit the basement of an old house in Smith street, Chelsea, where he found an old soiled picture destitute of frame. He easily procured its possession for a small sum and at once communicated to the picture dealer the results of his find. Agnew at once recognized the kidnapped duchess and was obliged to pay its possessor almost $5,000 for his discovery.

A French expert was equally fortunate in finding Rubens' masterpiece, "The Visitation," which was believed to have been burned in a fire in the Antwerp cathedral. The expert found the canvas in an old curiosity shop at Rheims and got its possession in exchange for two Louis XV. armchairs and a coffer of the sixteenth century. When the shopkeeper learned the value of the picture he had bartered for such insignificant values he resorted to law to redress his injuries, but the court sustained the Frenchman. The picture with the portrait of Cardinal Pole, now owned by the Marquis d'Oyley, was stolen from the English college at Rheims at the date of its breaking up in the seventeenth century and found a lodging place in an old forsaken house until fate threw it into the hands of the shopkeeper.

A portrait of dashing Neil Gwynn by Sir Peter Lely was found by a physician called in to attend the illness of a poor medical student who resided in a small tenement. The doctor noticed the tattered canvas on the wall and purchased it for an insignificant sum, not realizing the worth of his discovery. When he sent it to be cleaned the authenticity of the painting was made clear. Many other remarkable works of world-famous artists have undergone similar curious disappearances, a small Rembrandt being lately purchased for a mere sixpence in a rag and bone shop in Paris—Chicago Chronicle.

SUMMER CATARRH

Catarrh of the bowels, however it may present itself, is called summer catarrh.

It surprises many that bowel trouble is catarrh. Dr. Hartman's books make this plain. Write to the Per-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O., for them. They tell all about catarrh and how Per-na cures it wherever located.

"I had chronic diarrhea for fifteen years," writes Mr. T. E. Miller, Grand Prairie, Tex. "I tried many medicines and doctors in vain. At last Per-na was recommended, and it relieved and cured me at once."

Mr. John Harting, 629 Main St., Cincinnati, O., writes: "My wife and myself took your Per-na for chronic diarrhea and it cured us. No doctor or medicine was tried before helped us."

Mr. Edward Wormick, Leebetter, Tex., writes: "Per-na for bowel troubles is unequalled by anything in my experience. I owe my life to Per-na, and shall always recommend it to those suffering as I was."

Mr. John Edgerton, 1029 Third Ave., Altoona, Pa., says: "I suffered from dysentery for three years I took Per-na and am now well."

UNITED IN DEATH.

Husband and Wife Killed By a Train.

On Saturday morning the express train which leaves this city at 7:05 a.m. ran over and instantly killed at a crossing about two miles east of Winchester Mr. Sam Rupert and wife, who live near K. Junction. They were going to Winchester to meet the dead body of a kinsman of Mr. Rupert who had been killed by a train in West Virginia.

The train stopped as soon as possible and the dead husband and wife were put aboard and taken to Winchester.

It is said that ample warning was given by the trainmen, also by a lady at the cottage at the crossing, but all in vain. These strange events will occur. It may be that the advanced age of Mr. Rupert, who is about 70, is accountable for this distressing accident.

The engineer, Bert Owens, was the same whose train killed the Steele Bros. about one and a half years ago beyond Winchester.

Grand Benefit.

On Thursday, June 22, 1899, the Mid-Summer Minstrels with Kentucky's champion cake-walker and Saxton's famous band and orchestra will give one performance at Grand Opera House, Mt. Sterling, Ky., for the benefit of a new stage carpet and set of furniture. The owners will have work commenced on Grand Opera, 23rd—metal ceiling, papered and painted and it falls on the manager to secure carpet and furniture. Give the Mid-Summer Minstrels a good crowd and make Mt. Sterling's Opera House the most attractive in Eastern Kentucky. It will be a first-class attraction.

E. E. Keith on Wednesday sold 8 hogheads of tobacco in Cincinnati 1100 pounds average, at $9.60; Wm. Pence 11 hogheads at $7.25, and Garrett Sullivan his crop of about 9,000 pounds at $9.70 per hundred.

DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING

Instructs For Capt. W. J. Stone

For Governor,

And Hon. J. B. Chenault, of

Madison County, For Auditor.

Mass Convention of this county to instruct for State nominees was called to order by Chairman of the County Committee, Robert Marshall, who appointed Courtland P. Chenault Temporary Secretary.

The names of Hon. J. Davis Reid and J. W. Henry were offered for Permanent Chairman and when vote was taken the chair being unable to decide the crowd retired to the yard. It appeared that the Stone following was far in advance of that of Hon. Wm. Goebel and on motion of H. R. Prewitt Mr. Reid was unanimously elected Chairman and Courtland P. Chenault Secretary.

Mr. Reid on taking chair said: "Fellow-citizens I thank you for the honor conferred by selecting me to preside over this body. We are Democrats; this is a Democratic meeting and only Democrats are expected to participate. If there are Republicans here they are for once in good company. I ask you to aid me in maintaining order."

Judge Day was recognized by Chair and offered a resolution declaring in favor of the Chicago platform of 1896 and naming delegates and instructing them for Capt. W. J. Stone, of Lyon county. A substitute was offered by C. P. Chenault favoring the same platform, the re-nomination of W. Jennings Bryan for President and opposing organized capital in its efforts against the interest of the masses and asking that the same delegates be instructed in addition to casting their vote for Capt. W. J. Stone that they also cast the vote of this county for John B. Chenault for Auditor. Chairman put question and declared it carried. Then was put the question to adjourn and Chairman declared Convention adjourned.

At this point parties behind the Chairman crowded against or pushed him off the Court House steps. Then came an altercation between friends of the opposing candidates in which Judge B. F. Day got a slight scratch. It appeared at one time that a general fight was on and that much blood shed would be the result, but friends interferred and prevented any serious trouble.

At this time we cannot give any accurate account of the disturbance and therefore avail develop ments. The most we can say is it was a characteristic political mass meeting.

After the smoke, as it were had cleared away, another convention was held in which Joe E. Turner was elected Chairman, and W. B. O'Connell, Secretary. The instructions were for Goebel for Governor, Smith for Attorney General, Hager for Treasurer, Hill, Secretary or State and Chenault for Auditor.

REV. DAVID BARROW.

Who Was Pastor in Mt. Sterling One Hundred Years Ago.

The gathering of the Baptists in your city will doubtless awaken reminiscences covering the whole period of the century now closing. What wonderful progress along many lines during the period. But it is not my purpose to speak in particular of this; I wish rather to say something of a man of God, whose life and labors proved a benediction to so many people. It is to be regretted that so little of the history of ministers and other prominent men of the past century has been preserved to the present.

DAVID BARROW

Was born in Brunswick county, Va., October 30, 1733. He was converted in early youth, and was baptized by Zachariah Thompson into Fountains Creek Church. His father, William Barrow, was a farmer, who moved from Virginia to North Carolina, where he died in the 91st year of his age. David was reared on the farm with very meagre opportunities for education, yet with ambitious zeal he prosecuted the study of language under Elder Jeremiah Walker, and became an excellent grammarian. Very soon after his conversion he began to exhort sinners to seek the Savior whom he had found so precious to his own soul. He was ordained to the full work of the gospel ministry at the early age of 19, or, rather, as he entered his 19th year. He married Miss Sarah Gilman, of Scotch parentage, and reared a large family.

After his ordination he spent several years as a "travelling preacher" and labored extensively in both Virginia and North Carolina. He was called to the pastorate of the Isle of Wight Church in 1774. Other churches he served as pastor, among them, the Mill Swamp, Black Creek and South Quay. When the war of the Revolution broke out in 1776, Mr. Barrow did not hesitate to shoulder his musket and enter the army in the defense of his country and the cause of humanity. The historian, M. L. S. says, "David Barrow did good service for his country in the conflict, winning great honor for himself also." William Barrow, David's brother, and grandfather of the writer, was also a Revolutionary soldier. They both suffered many hardships. David maintained his Christian integrity while in the army, and when his term of service ended as a militant warrior, he continued the warfare as a soldier of Christ. "His unexceptionable deportment rendered him very popular with all classes of men."

About four or five years after his ordination, and when some twenty-five years of age, he was called to preach at the home of a gentleman who lived on Nansmond River; he was accompanied by another minister named Mintz. When they reached the place they found a stage, or platform, erected under

The pursuit of pleasure is often as dangerous to life as the pursuit of the "bubble reputation," even at the cannon's mouth. Late hours, the breathing of a vitiated atmosphere, rich foods, and irregular rest, must result in a depleted vitality. There is a feeling of languor, the appetite fails, sleep does not refresh, life loses its interest, and nervousness or hysteria may make life miserable.

The preservation of the healthful tone of the body depends chiefly on keeping the blood pure, and the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition in a condition of health. When any of the above mentioned symptoms appear, the timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will restore the body to a healthy equilibrium. It purifies the blood, nourishes the nerves, and restores the deranged stomach and its allied organs to a condition of sound health.

There is no alcohol, whisky or other stimulant contained in "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I was troubled with very frequent headaches often accompanied by severe vomiting," writes Miss Mary Bell summertown, Ohio, "and my stomach and liver seemed completely deranged. After I could eat nothing for twenty-four hours I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was advised to try it, and I was glad to do so. I was able to eat and sleep, and my system began to improve. I was perfectly able to undertake the duties of my school life. I give this great medicine a cordial recommendation."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse and regulate the stomach, liver and bowels. They produce permanent benefit and do not react on the system. One is a gentle laxative.

some shade trees. The preachers were informed that they might expect rough treatment, as a gang of toughs were on hand. As soon as the service began a gang of well dressed men approached the stage singing, but the song was not such as to promote the worship, but, excite disgust. The preachers were seized and dragged from the stage to a muddy pond, the ruffians saying, "You are so fond of dipping you shall have enough of it." They repeatedly plunged Mr. Barrow under, holding him there until almost dead. They desistively asked, after each dipping, if he believed. He finally said, "I believe you intend to drown me." Mr. Mintz was dipped but once. The whole assembly was greatly shocked; women cried with fear and indignation. Before these persecuted men could change their clothes they were dragged from the house and driven off, and the gentleman who invited them to preach was insulted and abused. How rude and intolerant can men be who claim to uphold the true worship of God. How gloriously has religious liberty triumphed since that time.

After more than twenty years of faithful and useful labor as a laborer in Virginia and North Carolina, Mr. Barrow moved to Kentucky. He reached Montgomery county June 24, 1798, (just 101 years ago this month), settling for the remainder of his life. His piety and usefulness soon evinced their existence in his new-found home as they had done elsewhere.

Governor Garrard and Augustine Eastin embraced Unitarianism and the Elkhorn Association sent a committee to convince them and Cowper's Run Church of their error. Mr. Barrow was a member of that committee, and later (in 1803) he published a pamphlet on "The Trinity." It was a document of marked ability, and was regarded as very efficient in checking that (then growing) heresy. David Barrow had been successful in North Carolina in bringing about a union between the Regulars and Separates. In 1801 he, with others, was likewise successful in Kentucky.

He united with Mt. Sterling Church soon after he came to Kentucky, and was called to the pastorate of the church. Other churches he served as pastor, among them, were Goshen and Lulburg. In 1877 a history of Lulburg Church was published, and the author speaks of its former pastor thus: "Elder David Barrow was a man of the highest order of talent; a life preacher, very zealous, well educated, possessed a thorough knowledge of the scriptures, and was known in his day as the 'Wise man'." He believed human slavery was wrong and wrote a book against it. It was regarded as a very able work. His views on the subject differed from many of his brethren, and for a time there was much agitation on the subject. While he was opposed to slavery, he was calm and dignified, respecting the opinions and rights of others, although he suffered at the hands of former co-laborers.

He continued to labor in the gospel until God called him away. When the life closing period came he anticipated it with joyful triumph. Just before he breathed his last he repeated a part of the 23rd Psalm, "When the Sabbath morning of November 4, 1819, came, he closed his eyes on things of earth and at the bidding of his Lord and Master, he passed from the labors of this world to the paradise of God. His labors, trials, privations and crosses, together with those of his co-laborers, have, under the blessing of God, made possible what we now enjoy.

Fearful Loss to Insurgents.

A cablegram from Gen. Otis, at Manila, on the 15th says: Success of Lawton's troops, Cavite province, greater than reported yesterday. Enemy, numbering over 4,000, lost in killed, wounded and captured more than one-third; remainder much scattered. Inhabitants in that country rejoice at deliverance and welcome with enthusiastic demonstrations arrival of our troops.

that morality and peace will have a rest in Jackson for awhile.—Hoviler.

N. E. A. Specially Conducted Excursion to Los Angeles.

The teachers and their friends of Greater New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, who expect to attend the Los Angeles meeting, have arranged for special service, to consist of baggage car, Pullman palace, vestibule sleeping and observation cars, and will run solid to Los Angeles, personally conducted by experienced passenger agents, who will see that nothing is left undone that will contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the party.

A cordial invitation is extended for all to join the party at St. Louis, which will leave St. Louis the evening of Tuesday, July 4, via the Missouri Pacific. Stops for sight-seeing on the outward trip will be made at Kansas City, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver, St. Lake (eight hours), and other points, reaching Los Angeles July 11. Choice of route returning. A good time is assured to all joining this special.

Modern Railway Equipment.

The equipment of the modern railway service is growing better every day. The highest point of excellence is reached in the "Pacific Coast Limited," a new train now operated between St. Louis and Los Angeles and San Francisco, via the "True South Route."

Leaves St. Louis every Tuesday and Saturday via the Iron Mountain Route, and makes the run to Los Angeles in two days and a half.

The equipment of this incomparable train consists of a composite car, with barber shop, bath room, buffet and observation, smoking and library compartment, ladies' private compartment car, with seven dining rooms, and an observation parlor, two or more Pullman ten-section double drawing room sleeping cars, and in addition to this equipment a superb dining car, in which meals and service are of the very best, and where the traveler can regulate his expenses by his inclination, as all meals are served a la carte.

We have representatives in the chief cities, whose pleasure it is to furnish information to all who will take the small trouble to address an inquiry, either in person or letter, to any of them, or descriptive literature and full particulars will be furnished on application to

GREENBACKS or Government Money.

At close of our Civil War in 1865, there appeared in the London Times the following:

"If that mischievous financial policy which had its origin in the North American Republic during the late Civil War in that country, should become indurated down to a fixture, then that government will furnish its money without cost. It will have all the money that is necessary to carry on its trade and commerce. It will become prosperous beyond precedent in the history of civilized nations of the world. The brain and wealth of all countries will go to North America. THAT GOVERNMENT MUST BE DESTROYED OR IT WILL DESTROY EVERY MONARCHY ON THIS GLOBE."

The famous Hazard circular, to capitalists in New York, and the Bull Bank circular to United States Bankers, both emanating from London, and the fabulous corruption fund raised in England and Germany, estimated at $1,500,000, were the agents that secured the closing of our mints against silver.

The "walk into my parlor" policy of England, during and since the Spanish War, is the latest evidence of English Diplomacy in shaping the destiny of the United States Government.

Notwithstanding the famine price of wheat, the Spanish War, and fabulous expenditure of money by our government during the past year, gold has increased in value eleven per cent, and all other values decreased in the same proportion.

For a thorough understanding of the money question, or silver issue, the Cincinnati Enquirer has uniformly given evidence of its ability to teach, explain and produce all facts and truth. It is a paper that ought and can be read by all classes with pleasure and profit.
